It was released on 26th August 2013. Just like the previous games in the FIFA Series that were released, this game was also an instant hit amongst football fans. As far as the similarities go, this game remains true to the previous games in the series. One of its best features is that it offers you support for even low end machines. The developers have ensured that users with computers which are less than optimum can still play it smoothly. FIFA 14 does not require much power to run well and therefore, you need to have a machine with at least 2Ghz processor running on either Windows XP/Vista/7/8 or Mac OS X 10.0-10.9x86-64.
